LOCAL DESIGNER RECOGNIZED BY THE SEN DESIGN GROUP THE BRUSH'S END RECEIVES BEST BATHROOM AWARD

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (September 21, 2006) – The Brush's End of Danbury, Connecticut was honored with the distinguished "Best Bathroom" award presented by the SEN Design Group during the organization's National Fall Conference held in Tulsa, Oklahoma over the weekend.

"This is SEN's highest award for a committed designer in the kitchen and bath industry," said Ken Peterson, CKD, President of the SEN Design Group, a national, professional organization of over 300 members and vendors.

The best bathroom design award is presented annually to a SEN member recognizing the firm's superior commitment in quality design and function.

"We're dedicated to being a one-stop shop for making each customer's vision a reality," said Barry Miller, president of The Brush's End. "We are delighted that SEN has recognized the quality of our work."

SEN is a network of design firms, including The Brush's End, which are among the industry's leading designers with a sincere interest in designing the best space for their clients.
